THERE is a man in town who will pay seven dollars tax on dogs this year—bully for him.

REV. T. S. GUTHRIE will preach at the North School House, next Sabbath at 10½ A. M., and 3½ P. M.

MRS. WESLEY KERNER used a yard stick on a lady in Fairland, a few days ago, and was fined four dollars and cost for the same.

JOHN W. STUDY, of this place, has opened a law office in Union City, for the practice of law. We wish him success.

A HEAVY RAIN STORM passed over this place on last Sunday, in the afternoon. Wheat, oats, flax, and grass, were laid flat, in many places.

JAMES ADDINGTON, of Fairland, has been dangerously sick—caused by drinking too much cold water while overheated.

THE article on school books was received too late for our first page, and its length excludes it from the inside. It will appear next week.

ISAAC FORD and ISAAC CORTNER had a personal encounter in Fairland, the other day. Ford got the better of his opponent, who said he had enough.

NATHAN BUTTS'S SCHOOL closed on last Saturday. Rev. C. W. Wright delivered an address on the occasion. This school has been an interesting one, and Mr. Butts is a good teacher.

THE PEOPLE are coming to the celebration on the 4th from every direction. If the day is a fine one, there will be thousands present. It will be the big day of Winchester.

REV. JOHN A. MOORMAN is our authorized agent, at Fairland, to receive subscriptions and advertisements for the Journal, and those desiring to subscribe can pay the money to him.

THE Board of Commissioners, at their June Term, allowed the following amounts: For relief of soldiers' families, $5,303 04; assessing revenues, $1,040 00; all other purposes, $1,639 03.

THE BEST method to ascertain whether a woman desires to marry, is to ask her. She will deny it, of course, if the question is a general one, but if it is a special personal one, she will tell you, boys try it.

THE members of companies E and H, 84th Indiana, left for Indianapolis on Monday morning, to be paid off and mustered out of service. They returned home on Tuesday evening.

MISS SHOEMAKER'S SCHOOL at the Seminary closed under very favorable expressions of the people as to her good qualities as a teacher. We shall be glad to hear of her second engagement at the same place.

THE accommodation train will bring a cannon and a squad of artillerymen to Winchester, the evening before the 4th. Listen for their belchings. Those who do not come to Winchester on the 4th will miss a big time.

VOTE FOR POSTMASTER.—James Williamson, 85; Rev. J. G. Brice, 84; George McAdams, 54; Wm. R. Way, 53. Total, 276.

THE scattering of the votes on four candidates makes 85 elect, over 191.

DINNER COMMITTEE.—We have been requested to ask the members of the committee for a free dinner for soldiers on the 4th of July, to meet at the M. E. Church, on Thursday evening, the 29th. Let every member of the committee be present.

A GOOD PURCHASE.—Alexander White has purchased the lot adjoining the passenger depot, and we understand will erect a large hotel building. This will be a fine project, if carried out, and we hope it will be successful.

FINANCE FOR THE FOURTH.—We hope no man who prides himself on his loyalty, will fail to pay to the committee a good round sum for defraying expenses on the 4th of July. The proceedings must be in keeping with the greatness of the day.

THE Boys at the mill write us that other persons besides old and crippled men got some of their saw-dust and sycamore navy tobacco. They say they will suspend business for the present, and will not neglect the business of the mill. We are glad to hear it. It will do to play jokes on the young folks like we are, but old age should be respected.

Go to the Franklin House and see the Sewing Machines there.

FREE DINNER.—Let all recollect that the soldiers are to have a free public dinner on the 4th of July, and do not forget to bring your chickens, turkeys, pies, cakes, fruit and other good things for them.—Oh it will be a splendid treat to see the boys all meet and eat dinner together. The people of Randolph are proud of their soldier-boys.

THE PICKNIC at Unionsport passed off pleasantly, except that there were two or three fights, as usual some of the parties got hurt. We do not know whether General Whisky was the cause of these fights, or not. The General and his staff were there. Otherwise the folks had a splendid time.

THE man who wished his neck as long as a broom-handle was in town the other day, and was a little tight, as usual. He seemed to think if he had a long neck it would enable him to drink more liquor; and, besides, he could better appreciate its qualities, and it would require a longer time to get drunk.

WE UNDERSTAND that certain parties have stated that there will be no good speaker at Winchester on the 4th. We do not know who these parties are, but take this occasion to say that Chaplain Lozier, as a public speaker, has but few equals in the State, and he has pledged himself to be present and address the people.

THE 84th Indiana had a reception at Indianapolis on last Monday. Governor Morton made a short reception speech, and read the regimental history. Gen. Hovey, Col. Trusler, DeHart and Gen. Wilder spoke. Colonels Miller, Orr, and others, were introduced, but we did not learn whether they made any remarks.

A JOKE.—In moving an old smoke house in town, on last Tuesday, a gentleman dropped three gold pieces, and was seen picking them up, which excited the passion in others for gold. It was noticed about that a considerable sum of gold had been lost on the premises several years ago, therefore it was not long until there were plenty of gold hunters on the ground who diligently examined the dirt to find the precious metal, supposing the pieces picked up were some of the lost coin; but all the time the supposed finder was laughing in his sleeve.

A NOMINATING ELECTION, for Postmaster, for the office at Winchester, took place on last Saturday. The candidates were Rev. J. G. Brice, Wm. R. Way, Geo. McAdams, and James Williamson. There was considerable interest manifested in the matter, and some little excitement, growing out of the question who were proper persons to vote. Some claimed that all persons who received mail matter at the office were entitled to vote. It was decided that all who voted for Mr. Lincoln, or who would have voted for him had they had an opportunity to have done so, were legal voters, as none but a member of the Union party could be Postmaster. As it was a party nomination, we think this was right.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Geo. McAdams has moved the old frame building from the corner of Franklin and Meridian streets, and will erect a two-story brick building. A whole block of buildings should have gone up together.

THE walls of the brick residence of Thomas Klinek are completed. He will have a beautiful and substantial residence, when finished.

Thomas Ward has adorned his front yard fence with a pair of fine stone gate-posts, and an iron gate. We presume the whole front will be adorned with an iron fence.

We notice the stone has been delivered to complete the stone pavement of the side-walk on the West Front, on Meridian street.

Good stone walks are being laid down across the streets on the south and east sides of the Public Square. We are glad to see these evidences of taste and public improvement.

DOGS.—The assessor's return of White-River township shows the number of dogs in the township to be 410. We are not surprised that ten or fifteen sheep are killed of a night. There may be a dog that pays for his keeping, but we have not seen the dog, nor the man that keeps him, but understand that there is a fellow out west, some place, who sells dog pups, that is well acquainted with him. A tax of one dollar is now assessed upon the male and two dollars upon the female. Consent.

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP. The corn crop is coming out very well, since the heavy rains ceased to come. Corn on sod is the best, and I think the time is not far distant when the people of Indiana will plant as much of their corn on sod as possible—it can be plowed earlier and gives more time to break up the ground in the spring; then sod ground is not liable to suffer from the drouth or extreme heavy rains, as much as other ground is. This climate is so liable to sudden extremes, that farmers ought to be prepared to meet any emergency. While corn is growing, it is a very heavy rain that will stop the plow long in sod ground.

Wesley Stakebake has been suffering for some time from a severe cut in the foot. Strange to say the wound had to be lanced. Dr. Botkin, who is almost a cure to the people to come in the house, attended to it. Wesley Olvy is very sick, from a lingering disease contracted while in the U. S. service. He really needs help, and certainly the people will each one plow a little in his corn.

The people are joyful here over the return of so many soldiers, among whom are Jonathan Edwards, W. Stillwell, N. Bright and others. They are received with much honor as the people can show them. Among the rest Massena Engle has returned. Well, Massena, little did you think that you would follow the war like path of the chief that you were named after. You did not dream, while Marshal Massena had commanded the armies of the eastern frontier of France, the army of Italy, the army of Portugal, and commanded the right wing of Napoleon's army through Poland, and been the hero of Verona, Caldiero, Rivoli, that you would ever stand where the linden ball and iron hail would reign supreme over the maddened hour.

For the Journal.
Union Chapel Sabbath-School Celebration.

We desire to notice, through the columns of the Journal, the Sabbath-School celebration which came off at Union Chapel on the 24th inst. It proved a decided success. The following schools were represented by delegations, viz: Union Chapel, College Corner, Huntville, Mount Pleasant, and Williamsburg. The various schools assembled at the Chapel and formed in procession, after which they were marched into Veal's Grove, where they were entertained by singing and an address from Rev. Mr. Barnes. Then came dinner, served up in picnic style. Ample provision was made for all, and wherever we passed, we would be invited to partake of the choicest viands, which were spread in profusion and abundance on the gracious "lap of earth."

After the dinner was dispatched, the audience was assembled, and were entertained by singing and addresses by Rev. E. Johnson, Rev. Wm. Bower, and Rev. Mr. Metz, of Hagerstown. The addresses were highly entertaining and instructive. The address of Rev. Mr. Metz was indeed humorous, and especially adapted to amuse the "little folks," while he threw out some very valuable hints to the silver-haired fathers.

Mr. Metz is a live man, an easy speaker, and keeps pace with the age in which he lives. The different schools were well represented. Upwards of three hundred pupils of Sabbath-Schools were in the procession. One striking and encouraging feature was that a fair proportion of the pupils were young ladies and gentlemen. It was a noticeable fact that the ladies had the fairest representation. We would that more of our young men, who are just coming out to the stage of active manhood, would identify themselves with the institutions of moral and religious training, instead of following after vice and wickedness—leading many to misery and unhappiness, and finally, at the end of time, reaching eternal ruin.

Teachers, and friends of Sabbath-Schools, look up! We are on vantage ground. We believe the day is fast approaching when that blessed injunction of the Scripture, "Remember now thy Creator, in the days of thy youth," will be obeyed. The Sabbath-School is the dressing-room for the church. Let us not be forgetful that the work we do in it will forward the up-building of the church, and may all be faithful. We may have hours of darkness, seasons when the evil one tries to make us believe that we are rendering no service to our good Master, but let us not fall into the "slough of despondency," but let us continue to "sow bread upon the waters," hoping "that it may be gathered many days hence."

COURTSHIP.

Jennie sighed and Robin sneezed her. Pretty little trembling hand, and with outstretched arms he seized her. Half reluctant form, and—

"Loose me," but he clasped the tighter; "Jennie, say, will thou be mine?" And her bright face grew still brighter, and she answered, "I am thine."

Then they hugged each other fondly—Close together as two bricks; And they kissed each other soundly—And I—left them in that fix!

Now I've made this little rhyme, Though I'm not a poet's son.

"Go to Morrow's, now's the time, For they are 'having quite a run.'"

ROBERT BURNS.

A show case with "winder lites in it," at Tripp, Lawrence & Co's, which the surveyor ran lines through, beginning at the north-east, at a bunch of fish lines, thence south to hair-brushes, west to a smoke-pipe, six inches to a bunch of Jew's harps, north to a gross of finger rings, diverging in all directions to pocket-books, hair and fine combs, lilly white, thence south to a box of bar soap, angling to a ginger cake, north-west to a loaf of bread, thence east to a wagon load of crocks.

AN ANCIENT MONSTER.—The people of South Jersey have recently exhumed from a marl bed the skeleton of an animal which must have been of the Kangaroo species, of enormous size. Its hind legs must have been nine feet long, and the entire length of the animal at least thirty feet, not including the tail. The head was small and the neck thin. The whole thing was petrified. The teeth were over two feet long and so arranged as to spell "Go to Morrow's for Dry Goods, Clothing and Groceries."

The Winchester House is still serving good things to eat to the guests who stop there. You have not stopped there? Go, by all means. We have tried the eating, and know it is good.

SUMMER FRIENDS.

The woods are full of summer leaves, The world of summer friends; And ever a guided shoe will lead you to the place of friendly hands.

The face of happy friends, Bat autumn frosts and chills, Bear summer leaves away— Misfortune's tempests smite the soul— What summer friends will stay!

Oh! when shall dawn the golden age Of which the poet sang, When worth, not wealth, shall be the true Criterion of man.

When heart shall speak the truth to heart, And smile lit loving eyes, Shall to our world once more impart The joys of Paradise.

But friends, I hope you'll bear in mind, That "friendship's but a name," That "money made the critter go," Although a little lame.

Then be of good cheer, and from debt keep clear, And hope for the future no sorrow, But go with the cash and buy your goods cheap.

Of J. & Robert B. Morrow.

THE CAPTURE OF WINCHESTER CONFIRMED.—After besieging the place for six weeks, the enemy evacuated, and McKennan's Brigade took possession of the place, with but very little opposition. All quiet now. Gentlemen, I have got the machine in motion. I have on hand a large assortment of Calf, Kip and Coarse Boots of my own manufacture, and have men at work, so I am able to make to order any thing from a Coarse Boot to a French Calf Sewed Boot; and mark you, I admit of no superiors in quality and workmanship. Also, a large assortment of Boots and shoes of every description, from the infant's to the gray-haired father's. When I go to buy Shoes, I do not look for blacksmith shops, ten-pin alleys or clothing stores, but I look for regular Shoe Dealers. If I can not find them there, I leave on the next train. This I have found to be wise, and I recommend it to you. So call and examine my stock, and I think you will see the force of the argument. Remember the sign of the Red Boot, south-west corner Public Square.

NEW YORK DRY GOODS MARKET.

There has been but little change in the prices since our last issue. The demand for spring goods has nearly ceased; stocks have increased, and dealers are afraid to buy—expecting a heavy decline in all goods; desirable styles of Prints are alone saleable, and in consequence the lower grades have declined. The demand for muslin de laines has fallen off, and they are offered lower. 25c being the highest figures asked. Merino prints 30c, Lowell and Arnold 22c, and American 25c. Brown sheetings rule from 14 to 30c, according to width and quality.
